Zero Tolerance Recruiting Policy

MortgageBootCamp.net subscribes to a zero tolerance recruiting policy. We are strictly an educational enterprise and MortgageBootCamp.net, its employees, agents and affiliates shall not and will not under any circumstances recruit any attendee. We do not want employers of attendees to have any reservation concerning the potential loss of their employees to their competition by any form of active recruitment effort taking place at one of our seminars.

It is our strong belief that to enforce this policy we must also ask each of our attendees to commit to our policy as a condition of attendance in our seminars. We want all parties to be assured that MortgageBootCamp.net is reasonably doing all within its power to prevent recruitment at any seminar.

Therefore, and consistent with this policy, all attendees are asked to sign below agreeing to abide by our Zero Tolerance Recruiting policy.

Attendees are strictly prohibited from engaging in any kind of activity whatsoever that would attempt to or result in recruitment of any kind. In the event any attendee is found or suspected of engaging in such activity at any level, the attendee shall be asked to immediately leave the seminar and shall forfeit all funds paid as no refund of any kind will be made. Furthermore, the attendee shall be banned from attending any future seminars hosted by MortgageBootCamp.net. Moreover, MortgageBootCamp.net reserves the right to ban the attendee's company or any attendee therefrom, to attend any future events.

The undersigned by their signature below, hereby acknowledges and consents to the terms and conditions of MortgageBootCamp.net's Zero Tolerance Recruiting Policy without reservation.
